

Dr. Smitha Raj

smitha.cohna@gmail.com

Biography

Smitha Raj trained as an economist at Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi. Currently, she works in the pharmaceutical industry while continuing to advocate for education and environment causes in the United States. She was previously involved in local efforts to support a clean environment. Four years ago, Smitha was elected to serve as a member of the school board in her town and continues to serve in the position. She is also a mother and a dog mother, living in New Jersey with her family.