

Dr. Upendra Chivukula

Dr. Upendra Chivukula is an electrical engineer with both technical and business background who has been a policymaker and has held several elected positions at the local and state governments. He was a gubernatorial appointee to the public service commission of New Jersey. Well versed with sustainability policies and serving as a senior advisor to a clean energy and sustainability analytics center at Montclair state university in New Jersey.